1. Introduction to the Sharing

This Data Sharing Agreement [DSA] documents how the parties to this agreement, listed in Appendix A, will share personal data about Children to enable the London Resettlement Partnership to be monitored and delivered. By signing this Agreement, the named agencies agree to accept the conditions set out in this document, according to their statutory and professional responsibilities, and agree to adhere to the procedures described.

This Agreement has been developed to:

- Define the specific purposes for which the signatory agencies have agreed to share information.
- Outline the Personal, Special Category and Criminal Data to be shared.
- Set out the lawful basis conditions under UK GDPR and Data Protection Act 2018 through which the information is shared, including reference to the Human Rights Act 1998
- Stipulate the roles and procedures that will support the processing/sharing of information between agencies.
- Describe how the rights of the data subject(s) will be protected as stipulated under the data protection legislation.
- Describe the security procedures necessary to ensure that compliance with responsibilities under data protection legislation and agency-specific security requirements.
- Describe how this arrangement will be monitored and reviewed.
- To illustrate the flow of information from referral through processing and outcome.

Parties to this agreement cannot amend or add appendices unless agreed as part of a formal review. It is expected that each party will have procedures, processes and policies sitting underneath this agreement, for their respective organisations. These will, for example, describe the specific processes for secure transfer of data.

1.1. Partner / Parties

For simplicity, the Partner Organisation will be referred to as ‘Partner’, ‘Partner Organisation’ or ‘Partner Agency’ in this agreement.

1.2. Responsibilities of parties involved

The parties are registered Data Controllers under the Data Protection Act. A list of type of signatories is at Appendix A.

All parties confirm that they comply with data protection legislation by:

- having a lawful basis for processing and sharing personal data.
- ensuring data quality.
- storing and sharing information securely, with access management controls.
- having policies and procedures for compliance with data protection legislation including for managing data subject rights and complaints, identifying and managing data breaches/incidents and retention & disposal.
- ensuring that mandatory training is undertaken regularly by their employees to ensure they are clear and up to date on their responsibilities. Every individual must uphold the principles of this agreement and overarching confidentiality, and seek advice from the relevant Data Protection Officer when necessary.
- undertaking appropriate data protection due diligence checks with any contractors/data processors they employ, and ensuring that a written agreement is in place with each data processor, and that all data processors will be bound by this agreement.
- having written processes for the processing of data to ensure employees use and share personal data in line with data protection law, the data protection principles, and this agreement.

Organisations and their staff must consult the organisation's Data Protection Officer/Information Governance Manager and/or Caldicott Guardian if they are unsure at any point in the processing and sharing of personal data.

1.3. Confidentiality and vetting

Each Partner must ensure that there are appropriate written contracts or agreements with employees, agency staff, volunteers etc. These must include requirements to ensure compliance with policies which include confidentiality.

Each Partner must ensure that suitable vetting has taken place. This may be through standard employee checks and DBS checks.

1.4. Assessment and review

A review of this information sharing agreement will take place yearly, unless otherwise agreed by the organisations' Data Protection Officers. The aim of the review will be to ensure the purposes are still relevant, the scope has not slipped, the benefits to the data subjects and organisations are being realised, and the procedures followed for information security are effective.

Changes in legislation and developments in the areas of public sector data sharing will be considered as and when they arise, as will any changes to the signatory parties.

1.5. Termination of agreement

In the event of termination of this agreement each party may continue to hold information originating from other parties for which they are Data Controller.

2. Purpose and Benefits

2.1. Purpose

This agreement covers the sharing of information by and between the listed parties for the purpose of sharing data on all children remanded and sentenced to youth custody from London. This will allow the project to run and be evaluated as part of the London Resettlement Partnership.

Camden is the lead authority for the London Resettlement Partnership and is required to collate data as part of the monitoring and evaluation process of the Youth Justice Board pathfinder. MOPAC is the evaluator for this project, and London Borough of Camden, as lead council, will share data received from the Boroughs under this DSA with MOPAC. Camden has a DSA with MOPAC which covers the necessary data protection and security matters including secure transfer and storage, retention and data subject rights etc for this data.

Spark Inside have been commissioned to support children with 1:1 life coaching. Youth Justice Services will be contacted by Spark Inside if children are eligible for this service. Camden as the lead council have a contract with Spark Inside and have undertaken all necessary due diligence processes including secure sharing of information and data storage.

Aggregate data from all local authorities will be shared with key stakeholders within the London Resettlement Partnership via quarterly reports. Individual local authorities will not be identified within this report.

The overall aim of the project is to work with partners to improve resettlement outcomes for children and reduce reoffending. The project focuses on a number of aims in order to achieve this, including:

- Defining constructive resettlement principles and ascertain how this can work in practice in developing an enhanced constructive resettlement offer.
- Identifying clear pathways to Release on Temporary Licence (ROTL) (to include ROTL clinics)
- Improving education, training and employment outcomes
- Developing a pan London accommodation protocol
- Working with NHS England and partners to define ways of securing continuity of health pathways from custody to community
- Addressing the disproportionality of black, Asian and mixed ethnicity children and its impact on pathways to resettlement.
- Supporting local practice networks of resettlement case workers to define improvements and raise strategic issues
- Developing a body of effective practice and materials for dissemination nationally to YOTs and other agencies.

Case level data will be collected for every child that is remanded or sentenced to youth custody from London. The case level data collated will include all data relevant to the resettlement journey of the child including offence data, health information, accommodation, education and interventions (see appendix B for a full list).

In addition, up to 16 Asset Plus assessments will be required for the evaluation of the pathfinder. These will be randomly selected from across the 32 Boroughs. Asset Plus is an assessment, planning interventions framework, developed by the YJB and used by youth justice services in the assessment and planning for children. Appendix C outlines the data collated through the Asset Plus assessment.

2.2. Benefits

The sharing will allow partners to better deliver their statutory services and will allow more effective use of resources, giving more joined up working which increases efficiency. London will benefit as the data will provide a benchmark for the resettlement of children in the youth justice system, highlight areas for improvement and showcase areas of best practice. The public will benefit from this approach, as services will be delivered in a more streamlined way that utilises the information shared to provide better tailored and appropriate services.

Based on the above objectives for the London Resettlement Partnership data sharing will enable London to identify challenges and successes at a case level, and to use aggregate data to set benchmarks and track progress to realise the following benefits:

- Fewer children returning to custody
- A reduction in reoffending rates
- Improved accommodation outcomes for children released from custody
- Improved education, training, and employment outcomes
- Improved pathways for health between custody and community
- Increased use of release on temporary licence to address resettlement needs
- A drive to address disproportionality, hence more suitable outcomes for BAME children and support for staff
- Funding directed to the right services across London to address the needs of children in the youth justice system
- An evidence base to drive changes with policy, practice and legislation
- Improved partnership working across the youth justice sector.

The benefits of this DSA are to:

- Cover the sharing of information for all London boroughs to Camden as the host local authority
- Sets parameters for sharing personal data and clearly identifies the responsibilities of organisations.
- Identify the correct lawful basis to share personal information.
- Ensure information is shared whenever there is a requirement to do so.
- Enables authorities to share data on performance, quality assurance, learning and impact analysis.

Wider societal benefits are expected to be:

- Improved outcomes and decreased pressure on services can lead to long-term fiscal savings for reinvestment in services
- Reduced reoffending rates for children leaving custody
- Safer communities and fewer victims
- More children and young people positively contributing to society

2.3. Lawful Basis

The sharing of information must comply with the law relating to confidentiality, data protection and human rights. Having a legitimate purpose for sharing information is an important part of meeting those legal requirements. This is a complex area and each Partner must take their own decisions and seek advice from their organisation's Data Protection Officer/Information Governance Manager and/or Caldicott Guardian.

Articles 6, 9 and 10 of the UK GDPR set out the acceptable conditions for the processing and sharing of personal, special category, and criminal data. The conditions relevant in the UK GDPR to data processed under this agreement are below.

Personal data: Article 6(1) (c) legal duty and 6(1)(e) processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest . The Crime and Disorder Act 1998 gives each LA in England & Wales has the responsibility to formulate a strategy to reduce crime and disorder in their area and to work with police authorities to do this. Section 115 of the Act gives partners the power to share information for the purpose of reducing crime and disorder. Schedule 9 (5) of the Police and Justice Act strengthens this by introducing a new duty on the same agencies. The Children Act 1989 Under S.47 of the Children's Act 1989, a Local Authority has a duty to investigate when informed that a child in their area is in police protection or the subject of a protection order. The Children Act 2004, as amended by the Children and Social Work Act 2017, places duties on key agencies in a local area. Specifically, the police, clinical commissioning groups and the local authority are under a duty to make arrangements to work together, and with other partners locally, to safeguard and promote the welfare of all children in their area. The Statutory Guidance - Working Together to Safeguard Children (2018) and Information Sharing – Advice to Practitioners providing safeguarding services to Children, Young People, Parents, and Carers (July 2018) emphasise the need to share appropriately.

Special Category Data: Art 9(g) Reasons of substantial public interest (with a basis in law) and (h) Health or social care (with a basis in law). For art 9(g) the Data Protection Act 2018 Schedule 1 Part 2 conditions are para 6 6 (Statutory and government purposes) and para 18 (Safeguarding of children and of individuals at risk) with the underlying law being that identified in art 6 above; and for art 9(h) the Data Protection Act 2018 Schedule 1 Part 1 condition is (2)(2)(e) Health or social care purposes, the provision of social care. The underlying law is the same as for art 6.

Criminal Offence Data: the processing complies with Art 10, the art 6 condition is as noted above and the Data Protection Act 2018 Schedule 1 conditions are as noted above.

2.4. Consent

The parties will work collaboratively with data subjects and aim for agreement with them on the actions to be taken. However, it is recognised that this is different to using consent (Article 6 (a)) or explicit consent (Article 9 (a)) as the lawful basis conditions used for processing under this agreement.

Consent is not the lawful basis the public sector organisations use for processing information shared under this agreement. It is noted that where consent is not the lawful basis for processing, consent does not need to be sought to share, and thus the concept of "overriding consent" is a misconception.

It is possible that the other parties, such as voluntary groups, may use consent as a lawful basis for some personal data processing. Each party is responsible for managing consent where they use consent as the lawful basis condition.

2.5. Proportionality and necessity

Proportionality, data minimisation, necessity and not being excessive are factors to be taken into consideration when deciding whether to share personal information. In making the decision, employees must weigh up what might happen as a result of the information being shared against what might happen if it is not, and apply their professional judgement. It is for this reason professionals must ensure they comply with Article 5(1)(c) and share the adequate and relevant information, and limit that information to what is necessary for the achieving of the DSA aims. In this case there will be data forms agreed between the parties to ensure that only the correct agreed as necessary data is shared.

2.6. Freedom of Information

The Freedom of Information Act 2000 gives all individuals the right to access official information held by a public authority (the Environmental Information Regulations 2004 also allow access to data. For ease of drafting, FOI is used to cover both legislation). Limited exemptions may apply and all public authorities must ensure they have recognised procedures in place for administering requests of this nature.

All requests for FOI will be directed through the relevant organisations' FOI processes. Each party will seek advice/opinion from the other parties where there is concern about that information being released and any impact it is likely to have. The final decision to disclose or not will lie with the party who received the request as the legal duty lies with them. In order to ensure that the authority in receipt of the FOIA request is able to respond within the statutory deadline, any request for assistance or information made to partner authorities should be made and processed within two working days, and any data exchange completed within seven working days.

It is encouraged that all parties proactively publish this document. It may also be disclosed to the public under FOI.

3. Individuals

Organisations processing personal data are required to begin with the ethos of Data Protection by Design and Default (also known as Privacy by Design (PbD)). This means that we must consider and uphold the privacy of an individual's data before we begin and throughout the processing taking place.

Each party agrees that they have undertaken a DPIA (Data Protection Impact Assessment), where they feel the processing meets the legislative criteria for a DPIA.

3.1. Right to be informed – Privacy notices

Where personal data is created or received by one of the parties, they are responsible, as required by law, for making the data subject(s) aware within a reasonable time frame that the organisation holds the data, what they will do with it, how long they will keep it, and who they will share it with (such as under this DSA). This is normally done through a privacy notice, whether written or verbal. Organisations agree that they will adhere to the transparency requirements of the UK GDPR and will issue appropriate notices which inform the data subject that the information will be shared with the parties under this agreement.

3.2. Data subject rights requests and complaints

Each organisation must have in place appropriate policies and processes to handle data subject requests made in line with data protection law, to ensure they are responded to within deadline and in an appropriate manner. Requests include; right of access, right to rectification, right to erasure, right to restrict processing, right to data portability, right to object and rights related to automated decision making including profiling.

If an individual successfully requests the erasure or limitation of use of their data (right to erasure, right to rectification, right to restrict processing, right to object), the party that has been informed by the data subject will communicate this to the other parties where relevant and appropriate. In each case each party is responsible for securely disposing of such information or limiting its processing.

Each party must have clear, fair and objective complaint procedures. Any complaints from individuals how their data is being processed or shared will be handled under the policy and processes of the organisation concerned.

3.3. Data subjects

The data subjects will be all 10-17 year old children who enter custody (males and females, remanded and sentenced) from all London Boroughs. Some children may turn 18 whilst they are being monitored as part of the London Resettlement Partnership, these young adults will remain in scope. The data subjects are vulnerable. Parties to this agreement are in positions of power over data subjects and data subjects have little or no control over why and how their data is processed.

4. Data

4.1. The data to be shared

Data that will be shared includes:

- Name, address and contact details inc phone and email
- Age/date of birth
- Gender
- Ethnicity
- Criminal offence data including type of offence, gravity scores reoffending and breach data
- Special Educational Needs and Disabilities
- Physical or mental health or condition (to allow risk assessments to be made and necessary actions taken)
- Accommodation information
- Education, training and employment information
- Interventions

Please refer to Appendix B for a full list.

4.2. Storing and handling information securely

Information must be stored and shared lawfully and securely. Special category data may need a higher level of security. The employee/organisation sharing the information must choose the most appropriate secure method of transfer and be responsible for its safe delivery.

Electronic records:

Organisations may have different electronic methods for storing and sharing information securely. Some have local restrictions which block access to information shared using specific tools.

Parties must make sure the chosen method is suitably secure and that access is only provided to those who need it, and only to the data needed.

Unencrypted email (i.e. sent in plain text over the public internet) must not be used to share information under this DSA.

Sharing methods that may be appropriate include:

- Email encryption tools where the email and attachments are encrypted from named sender to named recipient (e.g. Microsoft 365 Message Encryption; Egress Protect)
- Encryption via Transport Layer Security (TLS) where the email and attachments are encrypted in transit over the internet. Both the sender and recipient email domains must have TLS enabled. This can be checked using https://www.checktls.com/
- Secure corporately managed data repository and sharing platforms (e.g. MS Teams; Google Docs)
- Secure group email services (e.g. CJSM: https://cjsm.justice.gov.uk/index.html)
- Secure File Transfer Protocols
- Virtual Private Networks

The above are examples, get advice from your organisation's information security or IT teams on secure methods of sharing available at your organisation and document these in the organisation's process documents.

Phone/virtual meetings/face-to-face meetings:

Information may be shared over the phone, in a virtual meeting, or at face to face meetings. Meeting attendance and distribution of content, e.g. meeting minutes or recordings, must be limited to those with a need to know.

Sharing by telephone should be avoided unless the requirement is urgent and email is not practicable.

Individuals should be aware of their surroundings and the presence of other individuals or voice recognition or 'Internet of Things' devices (e.g. virtual assistant apps like Alexa, Cortana, SIRI) to ensure they aren't overheard by those that should not have access to the information discussed.

Paper records:

Printed paper records must always be kept to a minimum and kept secure whether in the office, home or during transit. Organisations must adopt an appropriate policy surrounding the use and transfer of paper records. Appropriate security methods must be applied when storing or disposing of paper records.

4.3. Access controls and security

All parties will ensure that they have appropriate technical and organisational security measures in place to guard against unauthorised or unlawful processing of personal data and against accidental loss or destruction of, or damage to, personal data.

All personal data held by partner organisations electronically will be stored in a secure network area with password protected entry and appropriate back-up functionality. The systems will be auditable so that it is possible for any auditor to establish who has accessed the system. All laptops, computers, and any other portable devices will be encrypted.

Any individual no longer required to have access will promptly have such access revoked by the line manager and Human Resources related to the relevant employer.

There is an expectation that partner organisations will either be working toward ISO 27001, the International Standard for Information Security Management, or a similar standard of security such as NHS Digital's Data Security and Protection Toolkit (DSP) and Cyber Essentials or Cyber Essentials Plus.

4.4. Outside UK processing

There is no intention to shared data outside the UK. Parties are responsible for ensuring that if information is processed or shared outside the UK, that appropriate safeguards are in place and on condition that enforceable data subject rights and effective legal remedies for data subjects are available. These are for example, a legally binding and enforceable instrument between public authorities or bodies, binding corporate rules, and/or standard data protection contractual clauses.

4.5. Data quality

Each partner is responsible for ensuring the accuracy and relevance of the personal data that it processes and shares and must have clear processes in place for managing data quality. Any party learning of the inaccuracy of personal data is responsible for informing the parties with whom that data has been shared.

4.6. Data breaches/incidents

All parties must have a clear policy and procedure regarding the reporting and handling of data protection breaches or data loss incidents. This must include assessing the level of risk to the data subject(s), as well as to make a decision on notifying the ICO within the statutory time frame of 72 hours. This complies with Articles 33 and 34 of UK GDPR.

If the incident may impact the processing of another party to this agreement, all relevant parties should be informed and appropriate coordination of the incident must take place. The decision to report the incident will lie with the data controller(s) of the information concerned. The parties agree to provide all reasonable and necessary assistance at their own expense to each other to facilitate the handling of any personal data breach in an expeditious and compliant manner.

It is confirmed that security breaches (including misuse or unauthorised disclosure) are covered by the partner's internal disciplinary procedures. If misuse is found there should be a mechanism to facilitate an investigation, including initiating criminal proceedings where necessary.

4.7. Retention and Disposal

Organisations are required by data protection legislation to document processing activities for personal data, such as what personal data is held, where it came from and with whom it has been shared. This Record of Processing Activity (ROPA) must include the retention period for the data.

Information must not be retained for longer than necessary for the purpose for which it was obtained. Disposal or deletion of personal data once it is no longer required, must be done securely with appropriate safeguards, in accordance with that organisation's disposal policies.

4.8. Signatures

Section 3: Explanations and Conclusions

Practitioners will pull together and analyse elements of the Information Gathering section to make judgements about the young person in four main areas:

1. explaining offending behaviour patterns and trends based on the young person's individual context
2. considering potential future behaviour, its likelihood and impact

3. use 1 and 2 alongside an indicative rating of reoffending to determine the likelihood of reoffending rating and Risk of Serious Harm rating
4. making a professional judgement about the likelihood and impact of adverse outcomes in relation to the young person's safety and well-being

Section 4: Pathways and Planning

Supports practitioners to identify outcomes and plans that link to risks and positive factors identified in the Explanations and Conclusions section:

- outlines judgements made in the assessment alongside an indicative Scaled Approach Intervention Level
- frames the young person's intervention plan around what can or needs to be done to deliver 5 key outcomes:
    - repairing the harm (Restorative Justice)
    - not reoffending
    - not hurting others
    - goals and life opportunities
    - safety and well-being
